

ABSTRACT

A beacon for providing a reference location on an integrated circuit is disclosed. The beacon comprises a device capable of emitting radiation and disposed at a corresponding reference location on the integrated circuit, wherein the device is capable of being controlled independent of integrated circuit operations.

1264155.1